Message from the Headteacher

Dear Parents/Carers,

The countdown to Christmas begins! Children are already excited by the arrival of the naughty elf! I wonder what your elf has been up to?

I would like to welcome Mr Evans, our new site manager, who will start on Monday. Thank you to Mr Banks for covering whilst we recruited.

This week, we held a phonics workshop for parents of children in Y1. I hope you found it helpful. Unfortunately, we had to cancel our evening session, due to a low response. If those parents who either missed this workshop or who would still like to come, we will look into holding a session before the end of the school day. We will let parents know when this has been arranged.

As you can see, the weather has become very wintery – please make sure that your child has a coat in school every day (please make sure that their names are also in the coat!). Thank you.

Thank you to parents who have sent in donations for our Christmas Fayre – children are very excited about it. Hopefully, we can make it the best one yet!

Have a lovely weekend.

Many thanks, Jon Stevens.
